GUEST LECTURE

MICROAGGRESSIONS: UNDERSTANDING THE EFFECTS OF DAILY INTERACTIONS

April 11 at 4 p.m.

Microaggressions are verbal and nonverbal exchanges that put down an individual, intentionally or unintentionally, based on their membership in a marginalized group. During this live online webinar, WSU professor Dr. Lisa Guerrero will speak on the types of microaggressions, their causes and real-life consequences as well as methods to interrupt microaggressions. Being knowledgeable about microaggressions will help increase your social intelligence and develop your competence when interacting with people from diverse backgrounds in your career and daily life.

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ FUN-FILLED DAY AT THE TACOMA RENDEZVOUS

Peruse the Rendezvous 2017 photo album on our Facebook page to check out the fun Global Campus students had during the annual ASWSU Global Tacoma Rendezvous. Students and their families engaged in workshops, were inspired by Keynote Speaker Jason Gesser, explored the resource fair, and enjoyed posing with Butch the Cougar in the photo booth! The next social event for Global Campus students is Rendezoo in August at Seattle's Woodland Park Zoo, also provided by ASWSU Global, your student government.

▶ COUGS VOTED! NOW WHAT? A PUBLIC SQUARE DISCUSSION

A record number of Cougs participated in the 2016 Cougs Vote campaign! Now that the election has passed, how can WSU students stay engaged in the democratic process? Join the WSU Center for Civic Engagement from 3-4 p.m. on Wednesday, April 12 for the livestreamed Public Square event on YouTube to explore and discuss social issues, while learning practical ways to be democratically engaged through action.
